LYLE UNGAR

Lyle H. Ungar is an Associate Professor of Computer & Information Science at Penn, with secondary appointments in a number of departments including Operations & Information Management. He received his BS from Stanford and his Ph.D from MIT. Dr. Ungar's research includes the study of machine learning for applications ranging from bioinformatics to marketing. He is associate director of the Penn Center for Bioinformatics. Prof. Ungar has done data mining and text mining for companies ranging from start-ups to Google.